TVR Experience

In the brilliant sunshine, eight coats of hand-rubbed lacquer sparkle vigorously above the streamlined fibreglass body. At rest the suspension awaits the coming exercise, taut, eager and capable. You open the door and slide smoothly into the contoured bucket seat, smiling approvingly as the leather squeaks beneath you. With the key, you bring the engine to life, filling the spring air with a throaty roar. Put the transmission in gear and the transformation is complete - the two are now one.

The tachometer needle hovers at the redline as you hurtle deeper into the upcoming corner. On the brakes, speed drops rapidly at the apex. Timing perfectly, you're off the brakes and accelerating; as speed gains the motor sings smoothly and flashes of sunlight sparkle through the forest shadows. Cresting a hill and finding a sudden turn, you gear down and brake, the TVR grabs the road and hurtles you through with confidence - first left, now right. Onto the highway and quickly into top gear, you will cruise all day in full comfort. The controls and steering wheel fit you perfectly, while full instrumentation informs you at all times what is happening within your TVR. The tinted SUNDYM windshield offers an expansive view of the road that slips quietly by until the miles are gone. The city approaches and you know your time is almost at an end. In the congested traffic, the rack and pinion steering makes the most complicated manoeuvre a snap. Backing into your parking spot has never been easier, with the visibility afforded by the large heated rear window.

Slip out and lock it up - your driving experience is now complete. You have to leave now, but we know you - you'll be back.

Three models

To keep pace with the times, you have to remain flexible. In a world of mass-produced sporty-cars and corporate decisions, the TVR stands among the last remaining true sports cars. In its price class, the TVR stands alone, as it might in a class thousands of dollars higher.

Now there are three models to choose from - one is just right for your idea of perfection. All models come with an extensive list of standard equipment, including an all fibreglass body, space frame chassis, fully independent suspension, rack and pinion steering, exclusive alloy wheels, radial ply tires, full instrumentation and all the historic attributes of a hand-built, limited production sports car. Many interior luxury and convenience appointments are included at no extra cost.

TVR 'M' series: Two models are available, the 2500M and the 5000M. The 2500M provides a thrifty six cylinder engine and four-speed manual transmission, a combination that assures your performance expectations are rewarded. For those individuals seeking the ultimate, the TVR 5000M provides an eight cylinder engine with four-speed transmission, which can also be mated to optional automatic or five-speed overdrive transmissions to ensure that your performance expectations are shattered!

TVR Taimar 5000, is a new model which offers all the attributes of the 'M' series, in addition to the comfort and convenience of the wide hatchback design. The hatch opens upward to allow unrestricted access to the rear load area, which offers a surprising capacity to hold your sports gear, luggage or even the shopping. Loading ease is assured by the convenient, low deck level. One of these models is your driving experience.

TVR MODEL CHANGES

Please note that the TVR Model 2500M has been replaced by TVR Model 3000M.

References in this brochure to the 2500M now apply to the 3000M.

In addition, a TAIMAR 3000M has been introduced. This model has the same body style as the TAIMAR 5000M with its hatchback rear opening and an option list similar to that for the TVR 3000M.
